

INTERIOR STYLING + PHOTOGRAPHY BY LOUISE ROCHE

layered living

introduction

Creating a layered interior is all about building a space with depth, soul, and thoughtful combinations that reflect individuality.

To me, home has always been about lived in spaces, full of family memories, enhanced by beautiful things collected from travels near and far! Home should be warm and inviting with a sense of personal narrative, filled with layers of textures, materials, colours and decor that make a space feel rich and dimensional!

With this lookbook, I hope to inspire you to add layers to your home that feel comfortable for you! Layers of things found, collected old and new!

the color palette

Creating a cosy but elevated interior starts with a warm tonal palette for timeless appeal.

02

Contrast materials by adding polished stone against raw timber tones

01

Oyster Linen by Dulux is a midtone warm neutral with a greenish undertone that pairs well with neutral whites.

03

The Marley Counter Stool by Serrata Living in natural is a combination of sustainably sourced teak wood and woven rattan mesh.
A perfect way to layer in an earthy element to this warm colour palette.

A layered interior feels warm but not over-decorated...

Good looks and great comfort!
Cosy interiors made for day to day wear!
For this home interior I chose curved back bar stools with removable upholstered seat cushion.

Collected
Nature provides wonderful inspiration for interior styling selections and can provide low maintenance decoration for when things just need to look good!

Natural and elegant, relaxed living essentials...

mix and match

Celebrate the imperfections and patina of vintage pieces, here we layered the existing dining table with the new Marley Dining Chair from Serrata Living

Layering allows for storytelling—pieces collected over time, heirlooms, travel finds, artisan-made items—all living together cohesively. Styling for me is about creating moments within spaces that draw your eye from space to space, keeping you guessing with what's next with intricate details in beautiful furniture pieces such just like the Clovelly Entertainment Unit from Abide Interiors, made from 100% American Oak sitting beside the stunning and textural Mason Lounge Chair by Serrata Living reminding us that things don't have to match but just sit and compliment.

the composition

Create depth and character with the strategic build-up of visual and tactile element

01

The Stradbroke Bobbin Coffee Table by Abide Interiors features eight carved bobbin legs set in a bobbin frame. The table is finished in a light brush and weathered oak stain with a herringbone timber finish inlay in the top of the table creating unforgettable moments from every angle.

03

The Mason Lounge Chair by Serrata Living is a white wash coloured open rattan weave design that's comfortable and stylish.

Creating moments...

Layering oversized pieces help to ground large open plan spaces, this can help prevent them from feeling cavernous by creating focal points that draw the eye, key elements like mixing natural stone like this stunning

Haven Console from By West with raw rattan can allow for the injection of individual style and personality, making the space feel lived-in and unique.

making a statement

Think bold shapes, oversized proportions, or unique frames that can complement the overall aesthetic

02

The Lora I Light Table Lamp in Natural from Beacon Lighting adds a modern touch featuring a pleated linen shade. With a speckled ceramic base, ideal for creating a warm ambience in any room.

03

The Cove Stool/Side Table from Serrata Living brings effortless charm to your space with its natural Dark Natural coloured lampakanay weave wrapped over a sturdy metal frame. Whether styled as a side table, extra seating, or a stand-alone accent, its organic texture and soft, rounded form make it a statement piece in any room.

At an impressive 1.25m diameter, the Paloma Mirror from Serrata Living is designed to be a true feature piece, perfect for anchoring a living room, bedroom, or entryway with effortless style
